NURSERY

Dear Friends,

"May you live in interesting times". This quote is erroneously thought to be a Chinese expression or curse. It actually first showed up in the late 19th century written by a confused Englishman. Whatever the origin, it certainly describes the year 2020.

Our shared experience this past year has taught us new lessons and re-enforced the notion of how fortunate we are to be in the green industry.

There were certainly some anxious moments in March as we realized the seriousness of the pandemic and the uncertainty and confusion as to what governmental restrictions we would have to navigate. The timing could not have been worse, as we were just beginning our spring harvest. Would our co-workers get sick? Would our customers be able to work? Would orders get delayed or even cancelled? Contingency plans were made and sleepless nights were common.

We all know the rest of the story. The sky didn't fall. Thanks in large part to our strong industry associations, landscaping companies and nurseries were deemed essential businesses in most states. Fortunately, we managed to stay healthy and had a successful spring season. Summer sales were strong as many people stayed home and seemed to realize the tremendous benefits plants bring to their well-being and peace of mind.

As Kankakee Nursery enters its 96th year, we can add a global pandemic to the challenges that we have faced in our long history. We remain eternally optimistic however, and this optimism is reflected in the significant investments we continue to make in both infrastructure and escalating planting numbers. Our focus and energy are at an all-time high as members of our fourth generation take on more and more responsibility. Thank you as always for your friendship, partnership and support. Together we will make the very best of these truly interesting times.

Thankfully,

Steve Worth

True to Our Roots From Start...

Important to remember...the part of the tree you don't see is extremely important too!

At Kankakee Nursery, we propagate over 100,000 trees each year to eventually sell as finished stock. Our primary goal in propagation is to ensure each tree we grow has a healthy and fibrous root system.

We have discovered that starting these trees in fabric bags called root pouches (as opposed to plastic containers) has made an enormous difference in helping us achieve this goal. The pouches, along with some other home-grown techniques, help ensure the long-term health of the trees that you eventually purchase.

to Finish!

Experience the Root Pouch Difference First-Hand!

After our first few years of success with root pouches on the propagation side, it was an easy decision to let you get in on the fun. Our first finished root pouch trees were sold in 2020 with very positive feedback. Make sure to stay up-to-date with our availability to see all of the new root pouch varieties, especially our increasing selection of natives!

Additional benefits to using Root Pouches:

- Multiple fabric handles make moving trees a breeze.
- Perfect for projects that require smaller/lighter trees, such as volunteer plantings.
- The bags are also eco-friendly; they are made from recycled water bottles
